Since we're so closely related to the Empire, I think it's worth posting some news about their new miniatures... and maybe, some can also be used in our army, as variation

Fortunately, their horses seem to have gotten a complete overhaul, which was long due. Looking closer at the horses, parts of them look also very similar to ours now!

Another new interesting fact is that they are looking more Baroque (in a historical way) now, with all those skulls and skeletons (interesting reading: Skull symbology on Wikipedia).
